DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to the applicant's communication filed on December 22, 2000.

Claims 1-92 are currently pending in this application.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on March 15, 2001 is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 1-37 and 72-83 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The basis of this rejection is set forth in a two-prong test of:

- (1) whether the invention is within the technological arts; and
- (2) whether the invention produces a useful, concrete, and tangible result.

For a claimed invention to be statutory, the claimed invention must be within the technological arts. Mere ideas in the abstract (i.e., abstract idea, law of nature, natural phenomena) that do not apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts fail to promote the "progress of science and the useful arts" (i.e., the physical sciences as opposed to social sciences, for example) and therefore are found to be non-statutory subject matter. For a process claim to pass muster, the recited process must somehow apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts.

Art Unit: 3629

In the present case, claims 1-37 and 72-83 only recites an abstract idea. The recited steps of merely receiving a request, determining if seating is available, providing notification, guaranteeing the seating, assigning a seat assignment, and reassigning a passenger wherein the reassigned seat is a permanent assignment does not apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts since all of the recited steps can be performed in the mind of the user or by use of a pencil and paper. These steps only constitute an idea of how to find seating for an flight. There is no technology set forth in the body of the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-92 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Hebling et al (US Patent 5,797,126) (hereinafter referred to as Hebling) in view of “Tips for the Road” (hereinafter referred to as Tips).

Hebling discloses a method, system and program for processing for a category of seating comprising:

Receiving a request (Fig. 4, Purchase Tickets Command Button)

Determining if the seat is available (Fig. 4, Seating Availability Chart Window)

Providing notification (Fig. 4, Central Station Confirm Instant Availability and Block Seats)

Guaranteeing the seating (Fig. 4, Block Seat)

Art Unit: 3629

Assigning a seat assignment (Fig. 4, Print Confirmation Redemption Coupon)

Hebling does not disclose that the seats are airline seats or assigning a passenger to a flexible seat assignment, reassigning the passenger to a different seat assignment and converting the reassigned seat to a permanent seat assignment.

However, Tips discloses seat assignments on an airline (United Airlines) and assigning the passenger to a flexible seat assignment, reassigning passenger to a different seat and converting the reassigned seat to a permanent seat assignment (page 1, paragraph 6 – all seat assignments on United Airlines are subject to release and reassignment).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate into the disclosure of Hebling the teachings of Tips so as to allow the airlines to shuffle the seating to maximize and provide appropriate seating to as many passengers as possible.

The fact that the request comes from a travel agent or a passenger, that the request is received during the check-in process, or when the passenger inquires about the flight or that the category of seating is a window seat, an aisle seat, a bulkhead seat, an emergency exit row seat or a seat adjacent to a certain passenger, away from a passenger, a particular row, does not affect how the method or system works and thus is non-functional descriptive material and given little patentable weight, see In re Gulack, 703 F. 2d. 1381, 1385, 217 USPQ 401, 404 (Fed Cir. 1983); In re Lowry, 32 F. 3d. 1579, 32 USPQ2d 1031 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Furthermore, the Examiner takes Official Notice that it is common business practice of the airlines to reserve seat by category, ie., first class verses coach, aisle verses window. It is also common business practice for the airlines to reassign seats after making a first assignment.

Art Unit: 3629

An example of this is when an underage person is assigned to a seat requiring an adult, for example near an emergency exit.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

United Testing Self Check-In Kiosks in Chicago discloses self check-in kiosks that allow for seat assignments to be changed.

Las Vegas speeds visitors to table. Everything from gate assignments at the airports to checking into hotels is streamlined for efficiency, discloses seat assignment and shuffling incoming flights from originally assigned gates to open gates.

www.nwa.com discloses E ticket customers having the opportunity to print boarding passes and change seat assignments or flights.

Miller, Brent discloses a system and method for seat selection over the Internet.

Hitachi discloses a seat reservation system which temporarily registers a seat and changes temporary to permanent after charges are paid.
